

Higher Education Exam - Student III Form

Student ill in examination – Advice for student

If you are unwell and choose to leave the exam venue during the examination, your exam paper will be marked accordingly.

You will not be eligible for a deferred examination unless you have a serious medical condition requiring immediate medical treatment and substantiated with a medical certificate detailing:

- The unexpectedness of the condition;
- Your susceptibility to the condition;
- The seriousness of the symptoms; and
- The impact of the condition on your ability to remain and complete the examination

Important: A medical certificate that simply states that you were unfit to sit the examination will not be sufficient to demonstrate exceptional circumstances. Refer to the TAFE Queensland Medical Impact Statement.

This is to advise that I am aware that:

- I cannot discount my examination performance based on sickness grounds;
- My exam paper will be marked accordingly;
- I cannot apply for a deferred exam unless I have a serious medical condition requiring immediate medical treatment and supported with a comprehensive medical certificate.
